

Norway – powered by nature

Imagine a country where nature is a majestic gift to mankind. Imagine a country enjoying the abundance of nature. Accumulated through thousands of years.

You will discover a country, which is enchantingly unique. Natural. Imagine a country where light and darkness intertwine. Where seasons melt together in colours and crystals. Imagine a country where the thawing snow gives way to blossom. Where sea and mountain unite. Discover a country where nature creates art. Where you are invited to a life-fulfilling experience of diversity.

Friendly, down-to-earth people, unique scenery, summer nights bright as day and delightful snowy winters make Norway a very special country. In summer, there are plenty of attractions and activities to keep you busy - the unspoilt open country of the Sámi people in the north and fjords, salmon fishing and festivals in the south.

Did you know that:

- Norway is far stretched and diverse, reaching above the Arctic Circle.
- If you turn Norway upside down it will stretch to Southern Europe.
- Big city life in Oslo is different from that of a coastal village in the arctic. You can try both within a few days.
- Half of Norway has sun around the clock at summer and dancing, magical, northern lights in the totally dark winter.
- Go skiing and choose between four Michelin restaurants in the same afternoon.
- Farms are many, small and spread out, not clustered in villages like in the rest of Europe. Try staying at one of them and get to know a farmer.
- Reach towering peaks and witness the mountains dive over a thousand metres into a fjord.
- Learn about the vikings. See history with your own eyes when meeting the Sami.
- Let Norway take you away from the summer heat. Swim in a cold fjord with a glacier reaching into it. Stand on The North Cape, the northernmost point on mainland Europe, and feel the breeze from the North Pole.
